

NEWSPAPER WAR BREAKS OUT AT UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA FOLLOWING FORCED RESIGNATION OF EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

McGILL CHORAL SOCIETY SCORES HIT ONCE MORE

Last Night's Performance Shows Effect Of More Practice

GOOD COMEDY

Portrayal of Characters by Principals Worthy of Professionals

Last night's performance of Tom Jones at His Majesty's Theatre by the Choral Society gave evidence of the increasing confidence that a successful first night gives. There were not the few spots in the singing of the chorus which were evident once for or twice the first night, and the cast was much quicker in responding to their cues.

Too much praise cannot be given to the principals for the way in which they carried their parts. Miss Mary Maciver's portrayal of Sophia Western was worthy of a professional, and certainly one would never guess from her self-possession and lack of stage consciousness that she was making her debut in Comic Opera. Miss Maciver is not altogether unknown to McGill students for her singing in the Red and White Revue last year when she substituted for Miss James who will be remembered.

George Holden, in the title role, did full justice to the part, that of a likeable young man of the sort that breaks the heart of every lady who takes him seriously, or at least every lady till Sophia comes along. Mr. Holden has an extremely pleasing voice and made the most of the many pleasing and tuneful melodies he sang.

The comedy throughout was good, and clean. The genial Squire Western, stubborn, pig-headed, the typical English country gentleman; Partridge, the leech—horse doctor, barber and general quack; both got the most out of their parts and kept the audience constantly on their tip toes. Miss Gray brought to her part, that of Lady Belsham, a fine voice and pleasing personality which made her performance outstanding, while Ella Stellink, as the artful go-between was one of the most vivacious figures on the stage.

The audience was enthusiastic throughout and received in a very favourable manner this second performance of the first Comic Opera to be presented in Canada by a University Choral Society. Mr. Walter Clapperton deserves no inconsiderable amount of praise for the splendid results he has obtained with a group that, before he took them over, had no very great training in singing, nor must be forgotten the wholehearted support which was given to the Choral Society by the Montreal Operatic Society.

IMPROMPTU DEBATES BY SOCIETE FRANCAISE

Everyone Will be Given Opportunity to Speak

The Societe Francaise will hold its third meeting next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Royal Victoria College. The afternoon's entertainment will take the form of impromptu debates wherein each speaker will be given two minutes in which to develop her argument.

The lack of formality of this type of programme, and the opportunities it gives to participants and audience alike of spending an amusing afternoon should appeal to every woman student in the University, whether a French student or not.

It is hoped that there will be a good turn-out and that many will put up their names as wishing to debate. Lists will be posted in the R.V.C. and the Arts Building where all who wish to speak may enter their signatures.

Tea will be served at the close of the afternoon's performance.

Mrs. Look here, Mary, I can write my name in the dust on this chest.

Commerce 1927 Elect Officers For Graduation

Jack Little was unanimously elected valedictorian for this year's graduating class in Commerce at a meeting of the Arts Building at 9:45 yesterday forenoon. The much more arduous position of permanent class secretary went to Leslie Stephenson, former class president and former president of the Commercial Society. Chas. P. Ryan was elected representative on the graduation committee. Almee Gravel, one of the three girls in the class, was chosen to forecast the future and Ross Harkness will be class historian. Arrangements have not yet been made for the taking of the graduating pictures, but Ney Gordon, president, is looking into the matter at present and announcements will be made shortly.

DEBATERS TO MEET MARQUETTE MONDAY

Students From Famous School of Speech Visit McGill

IN MOYSE HALL

Debating Society Also Has Meet With Delta Sigma Next Week

On Monday the Marquette Debating team will arrive in Montreal to debate that same afternoon at McGill in Moyse Hall. This debate, which is the star home event of the McGill debating season, will be held at 4 o'clock to fit in with the crowded program of the visitors who have many more colleges to visit on their short eastern trip.

Marquette University is famous for its School of Speech which gives special courses in rhetoric and debating. The teams which have gone through the United States and Canada in different directions in the last few years from this university and always shown the value of these special courses in the able manner in which they have upheld the side which they supported.

Marquette University is located at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and is conducted and controlled by members of the Jesuit order. Its history begins as far back as 1855 when the first attempt was made to establish an institution of higher learning at Milwaukee. In 1897 a new charter was obtained, and the name of the institution was changed from a college to Marquette University.

The Literary and Debating Society has been very fortunate in being able to secure a visit from this famous American school. This debate, and the one coming next Wednesday between its members and the Delta Sigma Society are two of the big home events of the season, and should prove of interest to all undergraduates. A Edel and Jack Duckworth are representing the Society against the Delta Sigma on Wednesday.

PSYCHOLOGY FOR MEDICALS

Lectures Will be Delivered by Dr. C. M. Hincks

"Situations in Medical Practice which Require Psychological Insight" is the subject chosen for the first of a series of lectures to be delivered by Dr. C. M. Hincks. This lecture will be delivered at five o'clock on Feb. 15th. While these lectures are optional to medical students it is hoped that many will attend as the course of lectures will give them an insight into the method of treating patients in practice, also to make personality studies; to interpret human nature and behaviour. How the mental condition affects body processes will be dealt with at length.

The lecture is open to all who care to attend.

BOARDING CLUBS

LUNCHEON IS TENDERED TO CAPT. MCGOWN

Had Proven Himself One of Best C.O.T.C. Workers

The officers of the McGill Contingent, Canadian Officers Training Corps bid a fitting and hearty Au revoir to one of the Corps' most popular officers, Capt. D. D. McGown at luncheon yesterday at the United Services Club. Capt. McGown has recently been appointed to a commission in the Kenya Police Force, Africa. He leaves Montreal tonight, sailing from Halifax next Monday for England and after a fortnight he leaves to take up his duties.

All those present at the luncheon were the guests of the former commanding officer, Col. R. R. Thompson, M.C. who proved a very genial host. In a few pleasant but sincere words he spoke of the high confidence in which he held Capt. McGown. It was during the regime of Col. Thompson that the guest of the day made his rapid progress from a recruit to the command of the efficient company training in cavalry of the McGill unit. Maj. J. W. Jenkins M.M., the present O.C. during his brief speech said he was deeply pleased and proud that a product of the McGill C.O.T.C. should be chosen to fill a commission in a distant part of the Empire.

Lieut. H. W. Howell who will undoubtedly succeed him to the command of the cavalry squadron bid him a cheery au revoir and best wishes while the best wishes of other ranks who have served under him were conveyed to him by the senior N.C.O.

Capt. McGown's rise to the command of the cavalry unit has been a rather rapid one. Coming to McGill some five years ago he joined as a recruit and served continuously as corporal, sergeant and sergeant-major. He was granted a commission in infantry in 1924 but immediately took over the organization of the cavalry training and it is largely due to his energetic efforts that part of the corps has reached its present high state of efficiency. In January 1926 Capt. McGown was attached to the Long Course for officers at the Royal Military College of Canada where he passed.

PAPERS ON LABOR PARTIES ON MONDAY

English and Canadian I.L.P.'s to be Discussed

There are not many people in McGill who really understand the policy and aim of the group of politically minded men called Laborites. When this word is mentioned instantly the thought Reds and Bolsheviks spring up in the mind. This is somewhat misleading for the groups both in Canada and England have broken away from the Third International. The McGill Labour Club will have two papers read before them on Monday relating to the Labour parties in both Canada and Great Britain. Philip Matthews of Arts '28 will give a paper on "The Independent Labour Party of Great Britain" while Michael Rubenstein of Arts '28 will give his paper on the "Independent Labour Parties of Canada". The meeting is to be held in Strathcona Hall on Monday at 8 p.m. All who are interested in these topics are invited to attend and join the discussion afterwards.

The I.L.P. of Britain celebrates its 35th birthday this month and thoughts go back to the initial Conference at Bradford which was attended by such worthies as Bernard Shaw, Kier Hardie and Ben Tillett. This conference formulated a Land Policy later and the adversaries of the party took up the slogan and added to it giving (Continued on page four)

ORIGIN OF LIFE NOT EXPLAINED BY DARWINIANS

Large Assembly Fills Theatre In Biological Building

CARRIE M. DERICK

Paper Also Read by Dr. Willey Head of Biological Department

"Darwin does not attempt to explain the beginning of things" Ignorance of this fact, according to Professor Carrie M. Derrick, who addressed the Biological Society yesterday afternoon, leads to much of the present antagonism against the distinguished scientist who is ranked with Copernicus for his work for the advancement of science.

Miss Derrick, McGill's popular Professor of Morphological Botany in the short time at her disposal was able to give a very interesting and concise lecture on the recent work done in Evolutionary circles. She discussed the work done to prove that intelligence is hereditary. Mice were trained, according to the exponent of this theory, an American professor, to run to their food at a certain signal, namely the ringing of a bell. At first the bell had to be rung three hundred times, but after several generations of mice were born, not more than five rings would cause the descendants of the original mice to scamper out of their nests to their food. Miss Derrick, however, expressed her doubts as to whether the baby mice were with their parents while this experiment, which was continuously taking place, was being carried out.

At the end of her address which was loudly applauded by an audience that filled the large theatre in the Biological Building, Dr. Tait introduced Dr. Willey who read a paper on the power of heredity of physical characteristics as demonstrated in the breeding of greyhounds and race horses.

Discussion On Independent Labor Parties

The Independent labor parties, are the topics to be discussed at the next meeting of the Labor Club. This meeting is being held on Monday evening Feb. 14th at 8 p.m. in Strathcona Hall.

Philip Matthews, Arts '28, will deliver the first paper, the subject of which, will be "The Independent Labor Party of Great Britain." The second paper will be read by M. Rubenstein, Arts '28 on "The Independent Labor Parties of Canada."

All who may be interested in these topics are cordially invited to attend and enter in the discussion.

SORORITIES AT MCGILL

The question of sororities at McGill will be brought up in the near future at a meeting of the R.V.C. Undergrad. Society. The attention of all R. V. C. students is drawn to this question and it is suggested that private discussion before the meeting would be desirable so that coherent views may be expressed in the general meeting.

GEOLOGY LECTURES

Professor G. Delphine, of the Catholic University of Lille, and who is at present delivering a course of lectures in geology at the University of Montreal under the auspices of L'Institut Scientifique Franco-Canadien, will give three lectures at McGill. Two lectures will be given to the class in general geology at 9:00 o'clock on Feb. 21st and 23rd; the third will be given to an advanced class at 12 o'clock on Feb. 21st.

Informal Dance Already Assured As Huge Success

The dance which is probably drawing the greatest interest among the students just at present, is the last house informal which is being held at the Union next Friday.

There is no doubt that the dance will be a howling success, if previous informals can be taken as a criterion. It is the usual kind of strictly informal dance at which all tuxedos will be outcasts, and a buffet supper will be served in the cafeteria.

The financial success of the dance is already assured, for more than a hundred tickets have been sold, and the many more which are in the hands of the class representatives are fast being sold.

A word to the wise—a very fine orchestra will be in attendance, that of Lou Dobrofsky, which made such a hit at the Med. Dance.

LIBEL SUITS MAY FOLLOW SALE OF SCURRILOUS PAPER ISSUED AS INDIRECT RESULT OF LONG FIGHT

Three Campus Newspapers Issued in as Many Days — "The Red Herring" Circulated to Deprecate "Manitoba Student", Independent Journal Published by Former Editor of "The Manitoban" — Copies of "The Red Herring" Seized by University Authorities — Alleges Necking Parties at Council Meetings and Guzzling in Bootleggers' Dives — Editor of "Sheet" Discovered to be Newly Appointed Head of Council Organ.

(Special to McGill Daily)

Winnipeg, Man. February 11. — Three campus newspapers have been issued in as many days at the University of Manitoba. One of them was immediately suppressed, copies seized by University authorities, and several libel suits against the publishers are now pending. The "Manitoban" official students' newspaper appeared on the campus yesterday, the "Manitoba Student", an independent college paper, edited by Leonard L. Knott, for two years editor of the "Manitoban", made its first appearance on Monday.

Late Tuesday night the other publication, appearing under the name of "Red Herring", startled the students of the University with scandalous reports involving almost every outstanding student in the University.

University authorities interfered first thing Wednesday morning; all available copies of the sensational sheet were confiscated, neither printers nor publishers had their name on the publication. The same morning five students, all new members of the "Manitoban" staff, admitted publishing the "Herring". Immediately, libel action was threatened by several students and the matter has been laid in the hands of legal authorities.

It is stated that several of the articles are criminally libelous, but since the writers have agreed to publicly apologize and resign from all student offices, it is possible that the matter may be dropped.

The publication of the "Herring" came about as a result of the dismissal of Mr. Knott from the position of editor of the "Manitoban" and his subsequent publication of an independent paper, the "Manitoba Student". Mr. Knott had maintained that the "Manitoban" should have the freedom ordinarily accorded to newspapers.

Council Objected

The students' council insisted that it could not allow itself to be criticised in the columns of the college paper and that the editor either submit to the editorial direction of the council or resign. Mr. Knott refused to resign until the question had been taken to the student body, the council refused to consult the students, and dismissed him.

As a result, the assistant editor and several of the outstanding editorial workers on the "Manitoban" immediately resigned and began publication of an independent newspaper with Mr. Knott as editor. The "Manitoban", with David A. MacLennan acting as editor pro tem endeavored to stop the new publication from appearing, first by circularizing local merchants with a warning not to advertise in the "Manitoba Student" and later by having the new paper put out of the print shop and endeavoring to destroy their credit in other shops. In spite of this opposition, the "Student" appeared on the campus Monday morning and was distributed in every building.

"Dirty Rag"

On Tuesday night the "herring" was issued directed against the new publication which it described as a "dirty rag" and with a personal attack against the editor. Although no names appeared upon the masthead, and the publishers were at first unknown, yesterday's "Manitoban" carries an admission signed by the five students responsible for the "Herring". The five students are all members of the new "Manitoban" staff, with J. Allen

Davidson, newly appointed editor, and David MacLennan, editor pro tem, heading the list.

The other names are L. McPherson, advertising manager, Ralph Ham, business manager, and H. Moore, treasurer. These students have admitted that their intention was to destroy the "Student" by forcing the University authorities to ban all non-official publications.

A special meeting of the students' council is called for tonight to consider the appointment of new members to the "Manitoban" staff.

In the meantime the "Manitoban Student" has been well received by the student body and will publish its second number next Monday. The students' council still refuses to admit freedom of the press and is having trouble finding a new editor for the official publication.

Necking Parties

"Necking" parties at council meetings and dramatic rehearsals are hinted in the issue of the "Herring" and lurid accounts are given of students being found "guzzling" in bootleggers' "dives". "It smells but is sells," was the catchline on the front page of the sheet which professed to deal with the "world, the flesh and the devil". Members of the faculty were not spared, and the columns carried reports of midnight parties staged in the offices of Professors in the theological colleges. The issue appeared printed on a bright red paper.

BOXING EXHIBITIONS TAKE PLACE TODAY

More Hard-fought Contests Expected in Union

The series of exhibition boxing bouts will be continued this afternoon when the boxers meet at 3:30 o'clock in the Union Ballroom. Some very good fights are expected, as it is on the results of these bouts and others which have taken place previously that the team which will represent McGill in the intercollegiate meet will be chosen.

The following tussles are scheduled for this afternoon:

115 lbs.—Schleffer vs. Brodie.
126 lbs.—Musselman vs. Marshall.
128 lbs.—Gullard vs. Stein.
135 lbs.—Baldwin vs. Bill Adams.
160 lbs.—Lighthall vs. Hammerle.

Besides these bouts there will be two exhibitions which should help greatly to develop the speed and ability of those who are to take part in them. In the first, Bert Taylor has been drawn against Ney Gordon, and in the second Fred Taylor will be stacked up against Jimmie Rowen.

The judges for the meet will be A. Anderson and M. Wolfkill, while Bert Light will act as the referee.

The Manitoba Squabble

THE mortality among the editors of University newspapers appears to have been higher than usual this year. Several editors in the United States have had to resign because of differences of opinion between themselves and the Students' Council or the University authorities. Now it appears from latest news from Manitoba that, while the original editor of the Manitoban, undergraduate newspaper of the University of Manitoba, had to resign due to differences with the council, his successor was forced to do the same by the University authorities.

For several months the editor of the Manitoban waged verbal war against the U.M.S.U., which corresponds with our students' Council. So far as we can learn the whole trouble started when the editor refused to publish the financial report which the U.M.S.U. sent him for publication in the Manitoban, and also refused or neglected to publish a Christmas greeting to the students from the U.M.S.U.

The U.M.S.U. demanded that the Manitoban, as the official paper, conform to the wishes of the Union. This the editor, Leonard Knott, refused to do, claiming that the paper should be free from all interference or control from any outside source, and demanding freedom of the press. Mr. Knott claimed that it was his duty to criticize the actions of the council if their actions did not meet with his approval.

The fight dragged on and finally Mr. Knott challenged the Union to bring the matter before the student body. The U.M.S.U. immediately held a special session and the president demanded the resignation of Knott. Some members of the Manitoban staff also spoke in favor of the motion. It was carried and Knott resigned. The council immediately appointed an editor pro-tem and it was this editor pro-tem who was discharged by the University authorities for his scurrilous attacks on prominent students. In the sheet, "The Red Herring", which came out last Wednesday.

Just how much justice there is on either side is difficult to say from this distance and from the rather scanty knowledge we have been able to glean from the highly colored articles and editorials that have been appearing in the Manitoban, both before and after Knott's resignation. Certainly it seems to us only just that the U.M.S.U. should have brought the matter before the Students' Society before going to the lengths they did. Whether Knott was in the wrong or not, he should have been given an opportunity of explaining his position to his fellow students and let them be the jury.

On the other hand it appears that Knott did not act in a manner most conducive to bringing about peace. The request of the U.M.S.U. to have their financial statement published in the Manitoban hardly appears to be of sufficient importance to be the cause of the fiery "Freedom of the Press" editorials that Knott ran. Nor do we think he showed good judgment in not publishing the Christmas message of the Union.

The question of Council control over undergraduate publications has always been a vexed one. It is only reasonable to presume that a man who has worked up to be the editor of his college daily knows more about running that daily than the Council does and it might gall him to have that council assume an autocratic attitude. On the other hand some sort of control appears to be necessary. It would not do to have a college editor absolutely free to follow any course of action he chooses. The temptation to further his own opinions is very strong, and while not one editor in ten would use the paper he is supposed to edit impartially, to further his own ends, yet it is best to be prepared for the tenth man. But the outside control, whether it be by the University authorities or by the Students' Council, should be of the freest, and only made felt when it is evident that the editor is misusing the power his position gives him or is incompetent.

Petit Parisien

Dear Monsieur McGill Daily:-
I was told you how I make a wagger with Knopschopp, and dress up like a girl, and how I am summoned to class meeting.

Well, I walk along to ze R.V.C. with some girl who are suppose to be my friends, and I speak as little as I can because par la monde, I cannot raise my voice enough and I have accent Francais.

Then we go into big room and sit down. After we sit down for a long time somebody yell out:
"Where is the president?"
And ze girl next to me say:
"Well, dearie, when are you going to start ze meeting?"
So ze girl that I impersonate is ze president! Well, I tuck up my false hair, pat my hat and take out puff-puff and puff my face. Before I go up ze secretaire say to me:
"Oh, my dear, is your hair turn gray?"
Ze flour with which I puff my face has nearly all stink into my kiss-curl and make it white. But I blush very red and tell her no, and also say that I have a cold. Then she tell me that she have tonsillitis. Then I have peculiar conversation.
"Miss Vice-president, I do not feel well, can you come as president?"
"No, I have laryngitis."
"Miss Treasurer, I do not feel well, will you act as president?"
"No, I have bronchitis."
"Miss Athletic Captain, I do not feel well, will you act as president?"
"No, I am hoarse from ze effects of our last game."
"Miss Debate Manager, I do not feel well, will you act as president?"
"I am all resolved by ze grippie."
So I give up, and go in ze chair, and call ze meeting to order. I shall not tell you of ze agony of ze meeting, except that they make a class levy of one dollar and of course I have to pay it before everyone else.
At first I left up my skirt, for I forget that I have no pants pockets, but at last I remember, and feel in my purse and find one dollar.
And before ze end meeting I also find that I have to play basketball in ze evening.

Yours agonizingly

Next Week At The Theatres

AT THE ORPHEUM

One of the most thrilling and sensational of mystery melodramas, "Silence," by Max Marcell, will be presented at the Orpheum theatre by the Orpheum Players next week. It deals with the spiritual regeneration of a criminal who faces execution in order to save the life of an unacknowledged daughter. It deals with many forms of crime, from that of the confidence men to murder but despite the fact that it opens with a scene in the death-house of a western penitentiary. It is saved from gruesomeness by the frequent flashes of wit and the genuine humour that mark many of the scenes. A remarkable climax developed with unusual ingenuity adds to the interest and the presentation of two periods, 1905 and 1925 with the difference strongly emphasised lends a color to the action that is lacking in many melodramas. Novel methods of technique in the construction of the drama also serve to make it of exceptional effectiveness as an entertainment and the opportunities that are afforded the cast to accomplish sound character work are numerous. Mr. Kennedy will be seen as the hero and Miss Margaret Knight will appear in a double role—that of the heroine and her mother. From the opening when the hero is saved at the last moment from electrocution the action moves with increasing speed through three acts packed closed with incident and drama.

AT THE GAYETY

"Speed Girls of 1926" which is showing at the Gayety next week is an attraction that is solely produced for the purpose of providing an afternoon or evening of real entertainment. It is a wholesome, clean show, lavishly staged and interpreted by a cast of clever performers.

There is not a single gesture made or a word said that any one can take objections to in this show. The songs are snappy and are sung by possessors of good voices who will delight the ear of audiences. The pretty girls, arrayed in gorgeous costumes amid glorious settings will delight the eye, while the sixteen speedy chorus girls will sing and dance their way into the hearts of one and all.

The comedy element is in the capable hands of four comedians Ray Road, William McCoy, Vernon Gilmore and Floyd De Forest whose talent and versatility can hardly be equalled on any burlesque stage today. They provide clean, wholesome fun, and their skits are both clever, clean and amusing. Others featured in the cast include Nellie Nice, Helen Manning, Frances Mayson, Marie Bradford and many others. The chorus is one of the most youthful, vivacious, experienced and capable ever seen with a burlesque show.

AT THE IMPERIAL

At the Imperial next week the Weller Sisters and Company will present a "Classy Demi-Tasse Revue." The "company" is a male quartette composed of Murry Lubit, Arthur Wiley, Bernie Dossat and Leonard Hannoch. With this masculine support, the two girls provide a barrage of song, fun and dance. Frank Davis and Dello Darnell will fill a quarter of an hour with amusement with their sketch, "Caterpillars". Hall Jerome, a comedian, will use Gloria Gray as a foil for his fun. They also play the violin and the piano. "Sunshine Valley", a combination of songs, patter and dances, will be presented by Tony Huntling and Corinne Frances. Iris Greene, in "A Travelogue of Trix", will offer a novelty musical and dance number. The Flying Hartwells will perform gymnastic feats on a swinging rope. The screen feature will be "Bred in Old Kentucky," starring Viola Dana.

AT THE CAPITOL

The vivid drama of the master dramatist Sudermann; the masterful portrayals of John Gilbert, Greta Garbo and Lars Hanson and the remarkable direction of Clarence Brown make "Flesh and the Devil", which will open up at the Capitol theatre tomorrow, Sunday for one week, a picture unique in screen history and one that every movie-fan should make it a point of duty to see.

AT THE PALACE

An exciting melodrama, "The Third Degree", will be shown on the Screen at the Palace Theatre next week. It tells about the complications, including a mysterious murder, which ensue when the son of a millionaire marries a circus trapezist. The wealthy father refuses to recognize his new daughter-in-law, who unknown to him is the child of his wife and the professional knife-thrower with whom she had run away before meeting her present husband. All the while a man who knows of her past is blackmailing the now wealthy society matron. The husband is murdered and the son is accused and put through the third de-

ANNOUNCEMENT

AS has been amply explained in the Goose Step, our rival column on the Daily, there is at McGill a low common rabble whose yearnings are for gross material, every day things. They have not reached the airy aestheticism of their more enlightened confreres. They see not, with their miopic, mundane eyes, the ravishing sights, the colorful delineations, the tender sketches into whose mysteries the supermen are initiated when they read the otherwise meaningless columns of our rival.

Since then, it is impossible for us, the lowly uncultured majority, to enjoy the foreclosed sights of this greater world, a new column, edited by a common, ordinary mortal, no greater than yourselves, is being inaugurated to satisfy your commonplace longings and emotions. The spirit of that subtle difference between these two columns is made clear when we call our foreword an announcement instead of a poem. It is a lowly, overtaxed word, we agree. Yet one measuring to the full the writers capabilities and the readers' knowledge. In such degree, and no more will our opinions and ideas diverge from one another.

—STANDARD OIL, (NEW JERSEY).
P.S.—This column was prepared before we read your clever letter, Mr. Marks, but we will give you ample opportunity to contribute. Will you do us the honor of writing us a poem? Thanks.

SOME MORE INTELLIGENTIA STUFF

MENCKENITES, this Mencken adulate:

ABOLISHING THINGS

NO. 1—THE GOOSE STEP. NO EXPLANATION NECESSARY.
No. 2—The Medical Faculty.

While the minds of the intelligentsia are bent upon abolishing things, their worthy example might be profitably followed by the Duck Waddle, which takes a fiendish delight in destructive criticism. First then, let us pick to pieces the medical faculty. We need of course, more men of the high calibre of our dear intelligentsia. They are superior beings, the favorites of the Gods, the acme of perfection in the evolutionary process. Now, if the laws of the survival of the fittest were not abrogated by the medical profession, these fittest of the fit, our intelligentsia, would certainly survive while many of the less fit would perish. Think of the possibilities! A greater percentage of the intellectuals! A world of better, fitter, and more highly equipped men, all as a result of the abolishing of a profession which tries to keep the unfit alive despite themselves. First then, among discarded things of our renovated world will be the medical profession. We want a greater percentage of intellectuals!

SOME MORE SOCIETIES

RUMOR has it that a new society is being formed for the "Abolition of Vice at McGill". We are afraid that this will give the Freudian Circle very little time to organize properly under the worthy Vice President. Such nascent organizations should be given a fairer trial, instead of being smothered out at birth by adnascent ones.

HE is dead, John.
Dead.

NOTICE

WE would like all those who are not of the clan known as the Intelligentsia, who have anything of value or otherwise, to contribute their little something to make this column worth while. All correspondence should be addressed to the DUCK WADDLE EDITOR, MCGILL DAILY.

ANOTHER NOTICE

WE wish to announce that The Duck Waddle Editors will start to print a serial story of American college life. We thus wish to get a start ahead of our worthy rivals, who announced a serial story about two weeks ago, but have not yet come forth with their effort.

AND STILL ANOTHER

THE Goose Step will announce next Wednesday that the highest form of flattery is imitation. We are sure you all agree this is a most startling prophecy to make, but nevertheless . . .

girls provide a barrage of song, fun and dance. Frank Davis and Dello Darnell will fill a quarter of an hour with amusement with their sketch, "Caterpillars". Hall Jerome, a comedian, will use Gloria Gray as a foil for his fun. They also play the violin and the piano. "Sunshine Valley", a combination of songs, patter and dances, will be presented by Tony Huntling and Corinne Frances. Iris Greene, in "A Travelogue of Trix", will offer a novelty musical and dance number. The Flying Hartwells will perform gymnastic feats on a swinging rope. The screen feature will be "Bred in Old Kentucky," starring Viola Dana.

AT THE PALACE

An exciting melodrama, "The Third Degree", will be shown on the Screen at the Palace Theatre next week. It tells about the complications, including a mysterious murder, which ensue when the son of a millionaire marries a circus trapezist. The wealthy father refuses to recognize his new daughter-in-law, who unknown to him is the child of his wife and the professional knife-thrower with whom she had run away before meeting her present husband. All the while a man who knows of her past is blackmailing the now wealthy society matron. The husband is murdered and the son is accused and put through the third degree. An attractive programme of musical items and short screen offerings is also promised.

Too Busy To Study

Powdering their noses while they talked, two coeds thought out loud to each other about one thing and another, including the new faculty ruling which makes it easier to "flunk out" of school.

Synthesia Anna Littick didn't eavesdrop. She simply couldn't help hearing them:

"S'pose a person takes only fourteen hours and happens to draw a lemon five-hour course that he simply can't understand! If he's an upperclassman and gets a 'D' out of that he's out of that course, he's out of the picture, which—"

"And s'pose you get in bad with a prof and he gives you a 'D'; that would let you out, too, I like that! Why, it means one prof can get you kicked out of school if he doesn't like you and you're an upperclassman—"

"Anyhow—say, gotta date for the engineers' informal?"

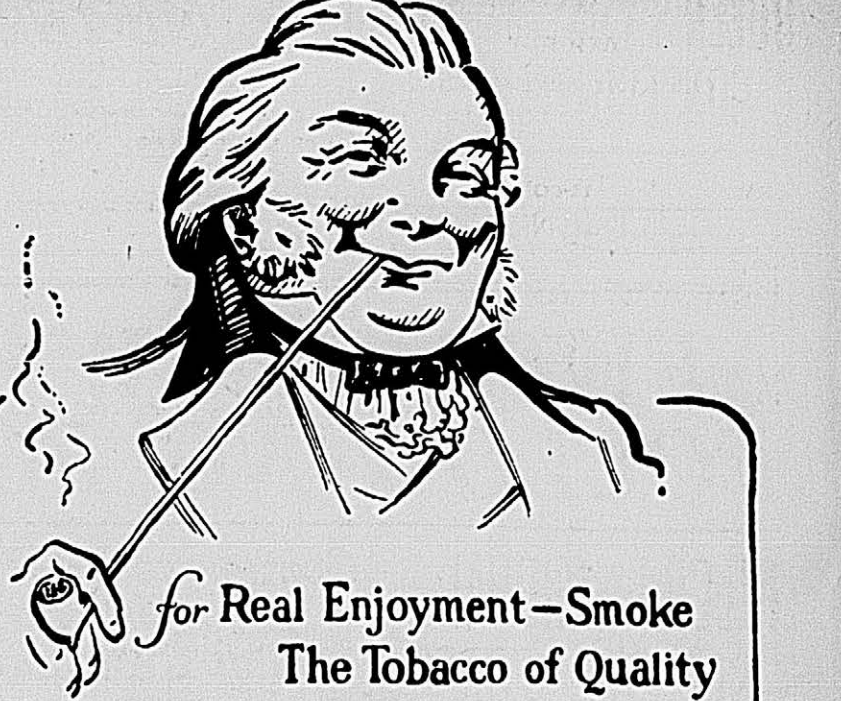

"Yes! Some sheik, too. My fourth date this week with him. He's beginning to think he's got a mortgage on me or something. But I'm going to give him the gate next week. Got your term paper ready yet for English?"

"No. Have you?"

"No. Too busy. Haven't started studying yet this quarter. 'Bout time I did though. Getting too far behind. 'Fraid I can't kid Prof. Spotties along much longer. He gives too many assignments for outside reading. I don't get any of that stuff read, hardly. I'm beginning to think I'm not much interested in English. anyhow. Think I'll change my major to history."

"Not a bad idea. But then you'd get some pretty tough courses in history. You want to invest gate before you shift over. Remember, if you get just five hours out of four-teen below 'D' you'll be out of it, since you're so unfortunate as to be an upperclassman!"

Synthesia's nerves were so frazzled by this time that she had to move away to keep from biting a chunk out of her notebook. "How in the world did they ever get to be upperclassmen," she thought.

QUEEN'S LOST FIFTH CONSECUTIVE GAME

Varsity Beat Tri-color in Toronto Last Night

FIRM HOLD ON TITLE

Score 4 to 2 in Blue's Fourth Victory, Small Crowd Witnessed Mediocre Hockey

Special to McGill Daily by Dick Atkey.
Varsity, Arena, Toronto, Ont., February 11.—University of Toronto seniors secured a firm hold on first place in the intercollegiate hockey race by defeating Queen's University by the score of 4-2 here tonight, the tri-color suffering its fifth straight defeat of the season. The blue and white showed a slight superiority in each of the three periods the score being 3-0, 2-1, 4-2. The brand of hockey was of a decidedly mediocre variety and the match was witnessed by a small crowd.

The local defence stood out for the blue and white. The work of Kirkpatrick and Whitehead, being more effective on the attack than any of the forwards, although Richards played a strong boring in game. Quinn played a stellar game in the Queen's goal and rather outshone his opponent Stollery. "Red" Logan played a sturdy game for the losers although he was inclined to be a little rough along the boards. He had four penalties to his credit. Rooney tallied the tri-color's only counter near the close of the second period on a long shot from the blue line. Lindsay played a nice game at centre for the Kingstonians while Reid was darkerous at times. The visiting subs were used frequently and all served up a good brand of the pastime but Wright's heavy checking landed him in the penalty box a couple of times.

The blue and white obtained a three goal lead in the first frame, Kirkpatrick opening the scoring in five minutes on a pass from Hargrave, the latter putting in number two eight minutes later on a pass from Sinclair. Richard grabbed up the rebound and Whitehead's shot with a minute to go in the period for the third of the tie. (Continued on page four)

ARTS-LAW FACULTY HOCKEY GAME TIED

Score 6-6 in Initial Contest Dentistry Defaulted

In beautiful weather and on a beautiful sheet of ice the first of the interfaculty hockey games was played yesterday afternoon between Arts and Law. The game ended in a draw, the final score being 6 to 6.

Although the contest was not particularly brilliant, it was interesting throughout. The Arts men were always in the lead but could never manage to hold it long enough. The play consisted chiefly in individual rushes and long shots, and were it not for the stellar work of Munroe in goal the lawyers would have had a much larger score. Peters was high scorer with three goals to his credit while Cope and Tobin of Law each netted two.

The small band of Law rooters who never stopped yelling for their team contributed in no small measure to the success of the Lawyers. Their support was sincere and constant and it is rumored that it was due to their efforts that Law managed to tie the score in the last minute of the game.

Arts were the first to score and in the first five minutes no fewer than four goals were made by both teams. The Arts goalie was bombarded constantly but was equal to the occasion for a time the puck raced up and down the ice furiously followed by the skaters. Near the close of the period more goals were made and the half-time score was 4 to 3 for Arts.

The second period started with Arts scoring 2 more goals. With the score 6 to 3 against them the lawyers staged a desperate and determined rally, and managed to run in 3 goals before the final whistle blew.

Art Irving was referee while Nursner and White were goal umpires.

The Dentists did not turn up for their game with Medicine, and the latter were accordingly awarded the game by default.

AROUND THE HOCKEY CAMPS

The McGill senior hockey squad leave by C.P.R. this morning for Quebec City where they meet the doughty Sons of Ireland tonight at the Quebec Arena. It is an important game for Sons as they must win four out of the five remaining games if they are to figure in the play-offs. Four out of five doesn't sound so good for the Irishmen.

The collegians have already dealt a severe blow to Victoria's play-off chances by taking the Maroon team into camp on Thursday night, and now that they have struck their stride, the redmen feel sure that they can eliminate another contender for the position.

To win tonight, however, will not be an easy job. The Quebecers have taken both St. Francis-Nationale and Vics into camp on their own ice. It looks as if the green-clad warriors, led by their star, Hammy Laroche, will not be soft pickings for the McGill men.

McGill will be without some of their best performers tonight "Bruds" Bazin will not make the trip. His place is being filled by Bert Carley. McGill's eagle-eyed sub goalie, who hails from Ottawa, Carley filled the breach against Vics two weeks ago, and if he turns in the game tonight that he did on that occasion, it is safe to say that very few goals will be credited to Sons.

Jack Mickles, right wing, who was injured on Thursday evening will rest up over the week-end. Mickles was reported yesterday as being in fairly good shape, but a little weak from loss of blood. He will be ready for the Queen's game on Monday night at Kingston. It is expected. Mickles place will most likely be taken by Bobby Bell, whose performance on Thursday was highly lauded by the local press. Bobby will have to do some stepping to keep the fleet Sons' wings well covered.

The red team has met the Irish squad but once and that was at the Forum about three weeks ago. The tilt resulted in a McGill victory by a 2 to 1 score. Since then the Irishmen have met and defeated both St. Francis and Victorias, and will doubtless be out to make amends for their loss.

A plunge back into the murky old files of the Daily falls to reveal when, if ever, a McGill hockey squad played in the Ancient Capital. McGill participated in the city league four years ago, but a Quebec team was not in the circuit then.

McGill was scheduled to play Sons at Quebec on the 15th of January. All was in readiness, when late Friday afternoon, the day before the departure, the news came through that Henri Fontaine, prominent Quebec sportsman and manager of the local arena had died that morning. The game hasn't been played, and there is doubt as to whether it will be played at all. The remainder of this month is taken up by previous engagements, and whether the team can find time in February to visit Sons again at Quebec is problematical.

McGILL FIVE PLAYS WESTERN QUINTETTE

Intermediates Meet Engineers Tonight

McGill senior basketball quintette plays its crucial game of the season tonight against the University of Western Ontario team. The winner of tonight's tilt will be perched at the top of the intercollegiate standing and incidentally well on the way to the college championship.

With Stan Quackenbush out of the game and Western going at a great clip the contest is expected to be as close an exhibition as has been played in Montreal for some time. The victory of the Western squad over Queen's last night for the second time in as many games proves beyond a doubt that the purple are strong contenders in this year's race, and it will take all the craft and ingenuity that the redmen possess to down the doughty warriors from London.

This evening's intercollegiate fixture will be preceded by a preliminary game between the McGill seconds and the Engineers in the intermediate city loop. The red and white second string outfit have played six games so far this season, having won the first three and lost the last three contests. This is their first meeting with the Engineers who are now leading the metropolitan league and nothing will please them better than to break their long string of losses by defeating the leaders of the pack.

The curtain raiser is scheduled to commence at 7.30 sharp with the senior fixture taking place an hour or so later. In view of the fact that the game is such an important one for the McGill five and as the admission is free a large crowd is expected to be on hand including a number of red, and white supporters. Bobby Bell, cheer leader, has appointed Fred Urquhart to lead the noise-makers as he will be away with the senior hockey team in Quebec and vocal support is not likely to be found wanting.

Coach Van Wagner stated late last night that he would start Bill Johnson the reliable substitute defence man, alongside Captain Errol Anarion on the defence with Grossman at centre and Hayden and Sacks on the forward line. Weldon, Laishley and Faulkner will do the substituting. The absence of Stan is expected to make a considerable difference in the defensive playing of the redmen but nevertheless with the use of the fine substitutes which McGill fortunately possesses this year it is hoped that the red and white will come out on the long end of the score.

Western has quite a galaxy of stars to stack up against the red team. However with the exception of their captain, J. McLennan, who is left guard, they are all graduates from last year's junior squad and as a result lack experience in senior company. Nevertheless, they have shown conclusively that they possess plenty of fight and this should stand them in good stead tonight. McLennan has been on the team three years and before enrolling at Western starred at Windsor Collegiate in the W.O.S.S.A. series.

The Westerners also boast two stellar rugby players on their line-up in the persons of the Hauch brothers. One plays alongside McLennan as guard

MEET HELD BY GYM CLUB AND M. S. P. E.

Gymnastic Exhibition Well Received

A combined Gymnastic Exhibition of the McGill Gymnastic Club and the McGill School of Physical Education was held last evening in the Boy's Gymnasium of the Montreal High School. There were several hundred people in attendance. After the regular program was concluded a informal dance was held for those who cared to remain.

The Gym Club was represented by ten men, including the Intercollegiate Team which meets Varsity at Toronto on Feb. 13, and Consiglio and Holland, both of last year's team. Ray Caron, captain of his men in neat fashion. The M.S.P.E. group consisted of the entire school of about fifty members.

The Gym Club have been faithfully at practice since last October in anticipation of the coming intercollegiate meet, which is only one week away. They certainly did impress the audience last evening.

The exhibition was staged in such a fine manner, that it would please the most critical spectator. The program was run off with the M.S.P.E. and the Gym Club taking the floor alternately.

The program opened with an Athletic Dance, which was performed by the first year M.S.P.E. Gracefulness was prominent in this number. The second item was that given by the Gym Club, all the members of which performed proficiently in this direction. Free Gymnastics and Free Gymnastic Dancing was featured by the senior class. The Gym Club then performed on the parallel bars.

Two inter-class games were played. These were, "The Target Toss" and "North, South, East, West". The games were very closely contested.

Ray Caron and his men (R. De W. MacKay, C. E. Pacaud, C. A. Burke, D. Ross, and J. Katzman) gave a fine exhibition of scissor vaulting on the horse.

The inter-year Relay Hockey Game of the M.S.P.E. was won by the Junior year. A fine performance of tumbling was then given by the Gym Club in which "Willie" Consiglio starred. Consiglio was a member of last year's Intercollegiate team. The last number on the program was "A Swiss Mountaineer Dance". This dance was executed by second year.

The Master of Ceremonies for the evening was T. Ross Keene. The McGill Club was under the direction of Mr. Hay Finlay. The McGill School of Physical Education was under the direction of Miss E. M. Cartwright, Miss R. Harvey and Miss E. L. Wain. The music being supplied by Miss K. C. Christie.

while the other is a hard working substitute. Blee at centre and Turvello another reliever man are both natives of Windsor and are said to possess a splendid record. On the forward line the purple has R. Hind and E. H. Ladouceur who team well together and play a fast offensive game. Hind however lacks weight. The eighth member of the team is Bernath from St. Thomas, who is a new comer, and holds down the third position at spare.

"What did they say when your horse fell into the swimming pool?" "Oh, everybody yelled, 'Pull out the plug.'"—Ex.

FIVE BOUTS WON BY MCGILL WRESTLERS

AT INVITATION MEET

Intercollegiate Prospects Appear to be Bright—Y.M.C.A. and N.A.A.A. Represented

Last night's Invitation Wrestling Meet held in the Ballroom between grapplers of city clubs and McGill proved to be a huge success. The college team won five out of the eleven bouts staged, and, as a result prospects for the intercollegiate title look very bright. There was plenty of action throughout the evening, and though the visitors seemed to have a slight edge, nevertheless the McGill team provided enough excitement to keep the spectators on their feet. Medals were given to the winners.

In the opening encounter, Speller of the Y.M.C.A. and Bernstein, the college representative, both of the 115 lb. class provided a keen fight, but Bernstein was somewhat at a disadvantage due to Speller's height. Speller won the first fall after 5 minutes and 40 seconds of fighting, and one minute later obtained his second fall. Bouillet (N.A.A.A.) and Silver, intercollegiate champion, also members of the 112 lb. class next lined up. Both were evenly matched, and after a close contest, the judges decision was awarded to Bouillet.

The lightweights then appeared. Leger, the N.A.A.A. entry, also managed to gain a judges' decision over Towe, the local star, after a grueling battle.

The fourth bout saw a McGill man break into the win column, and that was after an extra three minutes of grappling. Touzel, one of the best wrestlers in college, gained a judges' decision over Demitre of Y.M.C.A. the provincial champion. This bout was at the 145 lb. weight.

In the following tilt, Krupkin of McGill lost by one fall to Vacher of the N.A.A.A. This was one of the best bouts of the evening, and Krupkin put up a very stiff battle, though his opponent had a slight edge in experience.

Greenberg (McGill) and Smith (Y.M.C.A.) were the next to mix, and it was readily noticed that the former was somewhat superior. He was given the judges' decision. They fought at 126 lbs.

The next encounter proved to be the best by far, Derrick (McGill) and Roy (Y.M.C.A.) opposed each other in the 134 lb. class. Derrick led all the way and gained his fall after 7 minutes of fighting. He is one of the best McGill has produced.

The eighth bout, between Ciley the collegian, and Bonnier, the N.A.A.A. entry, resulted in a win for the former by two falls; the first in 3:50, the second 2 minutes later. It was the only win McGill had over the N.A.A.A. wrestlers.

Petrie (Y.M.C.A.) and Marchand, McGill 134 pounders, next took to the mat. The former won by decision after a very closely contested affair.

Levesque (N.A.A.A.) defeated Barza, in two falls, after seven minutes of fighting. However the college grappler gave Levesque a very hard go, and at one time nearly succeeded in downing his more experienced opponent.

The final tilt between McCallum (Y.M.C.A.) and Hamilton (McGill) resulted in a judges' decision for the collegian.

The results:—
112 lbs.—Bouillet, N.A.A.A. beat Silver, McGill, decision.

SWIMMERS PREPARE FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE

Hart House to be Scene of Competitions

(By the Natatory Nymph)
McGill Swimming and Water Polo teams will both journey to Toronto next weekend when the Intercollegiate Meets will be competed. Toronto won the swimming meet last year while McGill kept up their unbroken record since 1909 in the Water Polo end of the aquatic sports. From all reports McGill's chances have increased very materially this year as the team has been augmented by Clayton Bourne and other star men.

Practices have been continuing at full pressure during the last two weeks and the K. of C. Tank has been thronged by a score or more of men who are all eager to win a position on the team. As swimmers on the team are often on the polo team it is most frequent that the full complement of eighteen men is not taken, but this year no chances are going to be taken and the managers insist on the full number.

The two meets are to be on consecutive nights, swimming on Friday and polo on Saturday. The Hart House tank is slightly different to McGill's home tank, in that there is no really shallow end, the lanes

MCGILL THIRD IN WINTER CARNIVAL; DARTMOUTH LEADS

Hanover, N. H., February, 11.—(Special to McGill Daily)—The end of the first day of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival found the green leading the large field of college teams with a 3 1-2 point margin over New Hampshire in second place and McGill coming third. Dartmouth led the troupe with 19 1/2 points, New Hampshire second, 16; McGill third, 9; Bonaventure fourth, 8; Williams fifth, 2 1/2. Bolton of McGill scored five points four his college by taking first place in the figure skating while Thompson added four more by placing third in the proficiency and the ski mile. The remainder of the events, including the ski-jumping will be run off tomorrow.

level of water being four feet six inches. This makes no difference to the swimmers, except perhaps the plungers as it aids still water, but when the poloists take action it is deep end play all the way and this necessitates movement and plenty of speed all the while. McGill has this year a team which does not rely on the huskiness of its players, yet there are men who can make their weight tell if the occasion arises.

Tri-color Led 13 to 9 at Half Time — Kingstonians now Practically Out of Race

Special to McGill Daily by George McCracken.
Kingston, February 11.—Western University complicated the senior intercollegiate basketball race by defeating Queen's tonight in a thrilling second period rally. The margin of the victory was one point, the final score being 19 to 18. Both teams have been exponents to the American style of basketball for the past two years and the exhibition tonight was a pretty one. Western was particularly strong defensively and shot ac-

"Red" Legion was prominent for Queen's during the first half of the second game. Its shots from right being dead on Stollery, Legon, Hargraff and Wright were penalized in succession and while Kirkpatrick was taking a forced rest Rooney tallied for Queen's on a long shot with a minute to go in the second period.

The hockey dashed up in the third session was rather mediocre although the goal keepers were forced to stop many a hard shot. Kirkpatrick secured Toronto's fourth two minutes after the start after a lone rush down the left boards. Within two minutes of full time Rooney tallied Queen's second goal on a shot from the blue line, the puck passing between the goalkeeper's skates. Stollery looked weak.

NOTHING NEW TO PAY MEN TO PLAY

So Says the Dartmouth on West Virginia's Statement

We are somewhat surprised over the recent controversy precipitated by the statement of the president of West Virginia Wesleyan to the effect that certain mainstays on the athletic teams of that school were paid well for their efforts. We thought that such knowledge was common, although we realize that it is quite novel for a college president to publish such definite information.

It is no new thing for obscure institutions to attempt to reach the limelight through athletic prominence. Although these efforts have probably been initiated by an ambitious graduate body and not by the administration, the officers of the college have usually been in full knowledge of this unsportsmanlike program. High School and preparatory school athletes, certain of making college teams, have, for the last few years, done little worrying about receiving generous financial help through their college days if only they choose the right college.

Schools in certain sections of the country make little attempt to conceal the reasons for their strong athletic teams. Students receiving scholarships, loans without note or interest, jobs without labor, are quite frank to admit they are paying for their academic instruction. They seem proud of the prowess which is so remunerative.

Even preparatory schools tempt high school athletes to their teams with offers of free tuition and board. In some schools it is a mark of athletic distinction to be a waiter.

Conditions similar to those recently described, were brought to light only a few years ago in a mid-Western institution. There was a mild flurry of protest, one or two schools refused to engage in athletic contests with the offending college—and that unfortunately was the end of the whole affair. For all we know, the culprit college is still catering to an athletic trade.

We do not approve of these conditions. No one does. But we feel to see why a statement recognizing them should be commented on so widely. It told nothing that was not already known. Such outbursts are always quelled.

curately while the strong point of Queen's was team play. Half time score was 13 to 9 for Queen's. Ladouceur of Western started the scoring with a clean shot from behind centre. Play was rather slow in the first period although both teams broke fast under the basket. Mainquy showed particularly well for Queen's. The tri-color at this stage seemed to have the game pretty well in hand and were using a strong five man defense. Just before the half time whistle Hind scored one of the nicest baskets of the evening dropping in the ball over his shoulder from the sidelines.

The pace in the second period was much faster with the score 18 to 13 in their favor. Queen's began to miss the rebounds and the foul shots. Western injected Bice and Turville into the game for the last seven minutes Hind scored the final basket which won the game. With a couple of minutes to go the play became lightning fast but the Western defense proved adequate to protect their one point advantage.
